Amarea Wilson

Overview

I am a Howard Community College student majoring in Audio Video Media Production. I am eager to gain beneficial experience working with the Arts team to gain meaningful training working in the arts field. My past knowledge and understanding of event production, organization, design, and creative work will allow me to grow and learn throughout the career exploration process. In my past years, I have gained knowledge in event planning, event facilitation, and event management through participation in various organizations.
